

Learn from the best

We've gathered the top aviation experts in one spot

YOU ASKED FOR MORE from your AOPA Fly-In. We listened. The 2017 fly-ins will be our best yet, with expanded programming and lots of new opportunities for you to connect with fellow aviators, deepen your skills, and grow your aviation experience. Friday workshops (tuition fees apply) and Saturday seminars (free) are led by renowned aviation speakers.

With AOPA columnist Barry Schiff, maintenance experts Adrian Eichhorn and Mike Busch, industry leaders such as Jeppesen's Slim Morgan and Garmin's Mike Young, and AOPA standouts such as Editor at Large Tom Horne and ADS-B guru Mike Collins, we've got you covered. See the full weekend schedule on page R-8.

ANGELA ANDERSON

The director of marketing at ForeFlight says her job is the next best thing to hanging out at the airport. Anderson grew up around aviation and spent summer vacations crisscrossing the United States and Canada in her family's Cessna 170. She is an instrument-rated private pilot.
Saturday 10 a.m.

AOPA PRESIDENT MARK BAKER

Meet the association's fifth president in its more than 75-year history. Baker is an active general aviation pilot who has been flying since he was 16. An owner of multiple aircraft, Baker works daily to ensure GA stays safe, strong, and accessible. He'll be presenting a Pilot Town Hall meeting, updating attendees on the advocacy work of the association, and taking questions from the audience.
Saturday 2 p.m.

MIKE BUSCH

Aircraft maintenance is Busch's passion as well as his vocation. His company Savvy Aviation helps aircraft owners keep their favorite ride in tip-top shape. Busch is a regular columnist for AOPA Pilot.
Friday Workshop
Saturday 12 p.m.

CATHERINE CAVAGNARO

An expert on spins, stalls, and going upside-down in an aircraft, Cavagnaro is the owner of Ace Aerobatic School in Sewanee, Tennessee.
Saturday 11 a.m.

MIKE COLLINS

AOPA's technical editor, Collins has become the association's leader in ADS-B information. He writes a monthly column for AOPA Pilot on ADS-B news, research, and updates, helping members prepare for the 2020 mandate.
Saturday 11 a.m.

GARY CRUMP

AOPA's director of medical certification, Crump has served members of the association for more than 20 years. He is an expert on aviation-related medical issues and is a private pilot.
Saturday 10 a.m.

JOE DANIELE

A senior systems engineer in operational systems support for Leidos Flight Service, Daniele joined Leidos in 2005. He has 30 years of experience with the Department of Defense. He is an active pilot.
Saturday 12 p.m.

ROBERT DELAURENTIS

After he flew the Spirit of San Diego around the world in 2016, DeLaurentis has become a noted speaker and author on safety and other aspects of aviation. This 1,100-hour pilot and aircraft owner enjoys sharing experiences with his airplane.
Friday Workshop

ADRIAN EICHHORN

The 2016 Maintenance Technician of the Year, Eichhorn enjoys finding out what's going on inside an aircraft engine. Before his around-the-world flight in 2016, this maintenance expert took his 1962 V-tail Bonanza apart and put it back together to ensure it was in perfect shape.
Friday Workshop

MARK GRADY

A member of the Aviation Speakers Bureau, Grady was named North Carolina's Aviation Safety Counselor of the Year in 1998. He is the author of two books and a filmmaker. Grady has more than 6,500 hours in a Cessna 152, which he logged during a decade as a traffic watch/pilot reporter for WRAL-FM in Raleigh, North Carolina.
Saturday 9 a.m.

JOHN HAMILTON

AOPA's vice president of information technology, Hamilton has been at the forefront of the development of AOPA's flight planning tools. He is a private pilot and avid collector of vintage automobiles.
Saturday 10 a.m.

TOM HORNE

For more than 35 years, AOPA's Editor at Large and AOPA Pilot Turbine Edition editor has entertained and informed AOPA Pilot readers. He is an expert on aviation weather and a multi-engine pilot.
Friday Workshop
Saturday 1 p.m.

JIM KOEPNICK

An award-winning aviation photographer, Koepnick's aerial images have graced the pages of many magazines over his 30-plus years as a leader in aviation photography.
Friday Workshop

GEORGE KOUNIS

The Pilot Getaways publisher founded the magazine with his late brother, John, to share their experiences flying GA across the country.
Friday Workshop

JOLIE LUCAS

As a Mooney owner, psychotherapist, private pilot, and founder of two grass-roots general aviation service groups, Lucas is a passionate advocate for GA.
Friday Workshop

LORI MACNICHOL

An expert on flying in the mountains, MacNichol owns McCall Mountain Flying Seminars in Idaho. She has more than 8,000 hours flying in the backcountry.
Friday Workshop
Saturday 12 p.m.

JANET MAXWELL

Co-owner of Don Maxwell Aviation Services in Longview, Texas, Maxwell has more than 1,300 flight hours.
Friday Workshop

JOHN MCKENNA

Since establishing the Recreational Aviation Foundation in 2003, McKenna has helped lead efforts to preserve, maintain, and create airstrips for recreational access throughout the United States.
Saturday 1 p.m.

JASON MILLER

With more than 18 years of aviation experience and thousands of hours of instruction given, Miller created The Finer Points—Aviation Podcast.
Saturday 10 a.m.

SLIM MORGAN

A U.S. Air Force command pilot with more than 4,900 hours in 14 different aircraft, Morgan is the general aviation senior manager for the Americas, Asia, and Pacific at Jeppesen.
Saturday 11 a.m.

CHRIS MOSER

The director of AOPA's flight training initiative leads the association's Rusty Pilots initiative. He is a teacher, flight instructor, and avid pilot.
Saturday 9 a.m.; 10 a.m.; 11 a.m.

PAUL NEW

In 1989, New purchased Tennessee Aircraft Services Inc. from his father and transitioned the business to specialize in structural repairs and routine maintenance.
Friday Workshop

RAINIER FLIGHT SERVICE

This Seattle-based FBO is renowned for its expert flight instruction. Rainier is the largest flight school in western Washington.
Friday Workshop

BARRY SCHIFF

For more than 50 years, this veteran AOPA Pilot writer and columnist has shared his flying life with readers. His monthly "Test Pilot" column challenges readers' aviation knowledge.
Saturday 1 p.m.

TODD SCHOLTEN

A 20-year employee of L3 Aviation Products, Scholten serves as the company's chief pilot, with additional responsibilities supporting sales, new product development, and flight-test activities.
Saturday 1 p.m.

JOE SANTORO

For more than 30 years, Santoro has worked for the FAA in the Air Traffic Organization, joining the runway safety group in 2015 as one of only 14 runway safety program managers nationwide.
Saturday 9 a.m.

KAY SUNDARAM

AOPA's Ambassador for Southern California, Sundaram's passion for flight began at age 12 when she received her first flying lesson. She soloed on her sixteenth birthday. Today she flies one of AOPA's "yellow birds" around southern California spreading the gospel of GA.
Saturday 12 p.m.

KAT SWAIN

As AOPA's senior director of UAS Programs, Swain is developing plans to incorporate unmanned aircraft systems into a traditional manned aviation organization. She is an active private pilot.
Saturday 1 p.m.

MICHAEL YOUNG

The southwest aviation regional sales manager at Garmin International, Young resides on Mazatzal Mountain Airpark in Payson, Arizona and loves airpark living. Garmin is a highly regarded producer of consumer- and professional-grade navigation equipment using GPS receivers.
Saturday 9 a.m.

