

When Does My Medical Expire?

If the expiration date was October 31, 2020, the medical is valid until December 31, 2020.

For pilots that reside in or serve as a pilot of an aircraft in Alaska, if the expiration date was October 31, 2020, the medical is valid until January 31, 2021.

If the expiration date was November 30, 2020, the medical is valid until January 31, 2021.

For pilots that reside in or serve as a pilot of an aircraft in Alaska, if the expiration date was November 30, 2020, the medical is valid until February 28, 2021.

If the expiration date was December 31, 2020, the medical is valid until February 28, 2021.

For pilots that reside in or serve as a pilot of an aircraft in Alaska, if the expiration date was December 31, 2020, the medical is valid until March 31, 2021.

If the expiration date was January 31, 2021, the medical is valid until March 31, 2021.

For pilots that reside in or serve as a pilot of an aircraft in Alaska, if the expiration date was January 31, 2021, the medical is valid until April 30, 2021.

The provisions of the SFAR do not extend to the requirements of §61.53 regarding prohibition on operations during medical deficiency. This applies to pilots who have a medical condition, or, are receiving treatment or taking medication for a medical condition that makes them currently unable to meet their medical certificate requirements.