Dive deep with one or more of these in-depth workshops

AN EXCITING FRIDAY SCHEDULE gives pilots a chance to attend their choice of workshops ($99 per attendee; you may take advantage of multiple workshops) offering an intensive, deep dive into hands-on, experiential learning on selected vital topics.

Pilots interested in attending the Friday sessions are encouraged to arrive Thursday afternoon. Then head for the pavilion that hosts the workshop of your choice, including Skills and Safety, You Can Fly, Aviation Products, or Maintenance and Ownership. Lunch is included in the workshops' cost.

MASTERING IFR BASICS
 Gary Reeves
TIME: 9 a.m.-noon
 You Can Fly Pavilion

WHAT YOU'LL LEARN:
 Discover how to be the manager of your aircraft maintenance. Learn preventive maintenance owners can perform; participate in hands-on engine and airframe labs; understand what your engine is telling you.

WHAT YOU'LL LEARN:
 Learn how to maximize your flying skills in mountainous terrain; understand the differences in mountain flying; discover the basics for backcountry airstrips; discuss techniques and rules for backcountry flying.

WHAT YOU'LL LEARN:
 With WAAS-based receivers and a recent rule change, a pilot needs to know when GPS can and can't be used on non-GPS approaches. Walk through briefing the approach and flying VOR, ILS, and GPS.

WHAT YOU'LL LEARN:
 A three-hour review of the instrument rating ACS, rules, regulations, and everything you've forgotten since you took your written test a long time ago. A perfect review for pilots who are rusty.

VFR ADVANCED: 500 MILES AND BEYOND
 Dave Hirschman and Chris Eads
TIME: 1 p.m.-4 p.m.
 You Can Fly Pavilion

AVIATION PHOTOGRAPHY
 Mike Fizer
TIME: 9 a.m.-noon
 Aviation Products Pavilion

WHAT YOU'LL LEARN:
 This will help VFR pilots enhance their skills for longer-range flights with higher complexity and improved safety awareness, while expanding their enthusiasm for the pilot lifestyle.

WHAT YOU'LL LEARN:
 Join AOPA's senior photographer as he explains the skills for great aviation photography. Learn techniques and tips to improve your photography skills and discover new concepts specific to aviation.
